

TURKEY CALL PRIZE WINNERS. Taking the top two awards in the Any Type Call Division of the Washington County Wildlife Protective Association Annual Turkey Call held at the Potosi Elementary School multipurpose room Saturday evening, April 24th were, left, Ray Eye, Hillsboro, First place using only his voice to make hen and gobbler calls and Second place went to Damon Jarvis using his ~~own~~ patent slate call. A good crowd was on hand.

A GOOD EYE — HILLSBORO—Thirteen-year-old Marty Eye of Hillsboro was a successful turkey hunter during the recently completed gobbler season. Here he is pictured with a 22½-pound bird he killed near Johnston Mountain in Iron County. The gobbler had two beards. Young Eye was assisted by his older brother, Ray, who called the turkey for him.

WILD TURKEY CALL CONTEST AT HILLSBORO

The Gateway Chapter, National Wild Turkey Federation, will sponsor a Turkey Calling Contest next Thursday evening, April 14th, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Hillsboro Junior High gymnasium.

There will be two classes of competition - professional and amateur - with entry fees $2 and $1 respectively. Trophies will be awarded in each class.

Admission will be $1.00 donation at the door with children under 12 years old FREE.

Everyone will be welcome to attend.

The Federation is dedicated to the conservation and management of the "Wild turkey".

Making arrangements for the event is well-known Hillsboro voice turkey caller Ray Eye.
